

Man & Mountains is a discussion of humans role in the exploration and discovery of the potential in mountains throughout the world. Whether it be from the recreational aspects of mountain climbing and back-packing or the discovery of minerals and the challenge in extracting those resources, Man & Mountains leads the reader along challenging paths and into fresh areas of discovery.

Malcom Reed is an inveterate traveller with a stubbornly inquisitive nature. He investigates and discovers unknown facts and figures and dazzles us with his brilliance.
